PUNNARJJINI CAMP MEDICAL COLLEGE THRISSUR

Making out good vibes from their works are always a part of NSS Volunteer life. Enduring those vibes throughout their life make perfect volunteers. Taking up one of the most challenged area of society as a part of their project, the NSS unit of RCET conducted their seven day special camp as an exceptional one. They took the challenge of repairing the unused, dumped and damaged hospital equipment including biomedical and mechanical sections as a part of one of the flagship projects done by NSS Technical Cell, PUNARJJANI. With many disparate hardships, about 50 of them journeyed their 7 holidays for the sake of the society. The camp that started from 28th March 2018 ended at 3rd April 2018. They even sacrificed their next weekends to complete the work they took over. They worked on 7th and 8th April despite of their tight academic schedules to revive hospital equipment that worth about 10 lakhs. The project seemed to make each of them closely packed with the different phases of life of people in our society and about the lives of lower economic sections of the society. The camp molded them emotionally, technically into perfect volunteers. The camp was visited by MLA Sri Anil Akkara, Director of Technical education, Smt. Indira Devi, Environment protection Committee members, who analyzed and encouraged them for their toil and sacrifice. The seven days seemed to be days of perfect social service as they all donated blood during their service , visited the patients of cancer wards ,and also helped hand in hand the patients in between their works. The mission leaded by the Program Officer Sri R. Krishna Kumar, NACT member Sri Sarath K. S, and student coordinators Sri Praveen and Kumari Smrithi ended with a great success. The Activity Relations Manager Sri Iqbal, Field Officers of NSSTC Sri DannieDavid, Sri Shijin Shah rendered talks on being perfect NSS Volunteers.

The camp remarked a new phase of technical socially relevant projects that could simultaneously develop the society and mould students into perfect social beings.

PLASTIC COLLECTION FROM RCET CAMPUS 2018

We know that plastics are the main enemies of our environment. The removed of plastics from our surroundings helps to attain an eco friendly environment.
